

Ohio Natural Resources Hall of Fame

Ohio Natural Resources Hall of Fame awards program has a proud history. Established in 1966, the Hall of Fame is Ohio's top honor for individuals – past and present – who have made significant contributions to preserving and protecting the state's water, soil, woodlands, wildlife and mineral resources.

To date, 141 individuals have been accorded this honor. Previous Hall of Fame honorees include the legendary Johnny Appleseed, Ohio-born explorer John Wesley Powell, botanist Lucy Braun, conservationist and author Louis Bromfield, as well as farming conservation advocate Bob Evans.

Many stewards have devoted much of their life to safeguarding the beauty of Ohio's natural landscape for today's enjoyment and for future generations. These individuals include farmers, educators, birders, biologists, lawmakers, activists, foresters, geologists, anglers and hunters.

We encourage you to nominate an Ohioan who has made a lifelong commitment to the preservation and protection of the state's natural resources.
